Diana Choy-Shan

Senior Associate Attorney
Genser Dubow Genser & Cona

Attorney Diana Choy-Shan is an integral part of the healthcare reimbursement and recovery department at Genser Dubow Genser & Cona in Melville. She concentrates her practice in government benefits eligibility, complex Medicaid issues, fair hearings, Article 78 proceedings, guardianships and resolution of issues related to senior citizens and disabled residents' ability to secure quality care. She is also a state certified guardian ad litem, court evaluator and counsel to guardians and incapacitated persons, and she is accredited by the Department of Veterans Affairs for the preparation, presentation and prosecution of claims for veterans' benefits.

Danielle Gatto

Partner
Forchelli Deegan Terrana

Uniondale-based Forchelli Deegan Terrana recently elevated attorney Danielle Gatto from associate to partner. Gatto concentrates her practice in commercial litigation, real property actions, zoning matters and employment litigation. She also assists with complex tax certiorari matters and the defense of First Amendment actions. Gatto's areas of expertise also include adverse possession and prescriptive easement claims. She has successfully argued before the Appellate Division, as well as in state and federal court proceedings. The Hofstra University School of Law graduate joined Forchelli in 2008.

Kyle Lawrence

Counsel
Sahn Ward Coschignano

The newest member of the legal team at Sahn Ward Coschignano in Uniondale, Kyle Lawrence concentrates his practice in corporate and securities law, as well as real estate law and transactions. Lawrence, who took on a leading role in the firm's corporate and securities practice, advises clients on all types of corporate transactions, including private placements, mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures, corporate finance, business planning and strategies, licensing, manufacturing and supply and distribution arrangements. He also serves as outside general counsel to various privately owned companies.

Benjamin Malerba

Partner
Rivkin Radler

A partner in the health services practice group at Rivkin Radler in Uniondale, Benjamin Malerba was recently selected as a 2017 Top Transaction Lawyer by the Ambulatory M&A Advisor, a publication covering ambulatory care centers and physician group practices. Malerba has particular expertise in representing ambulatory surgery centers and ambulatory surgery management companies, counseling them on a wide variety of corporate and commercial transactional matters. In addition, he counsels a cross-section of healthcare providers and facilities on general healthcare business transactions, state licensing issues, regulatory compliance and other matters.

Anne Molloy

Counsel
Certilman Balin Adler & Hyman

A newcomer to the litigation group at Certilman Balin Adler & Hyman, Anne Molloy works out of the firm's Hauppauge office, applying extensive experience as a litigator and a law clerk. Prior to joining Certilman Balin, she was the principal law clerk to Hon. William B. Rebolini in New York State Supreme Court. Before that position, she was principal law clerk to the Hon. John J.J. Jones Jr. She began her career as an assistant town attorney for the Town of Brookhaven and as an associate trial attorney in private practice.

Hilary Moreira

Associate
Bond Schoeneck & King

An associate in the Garden City office of Bond, Schoeneck & King, Hilary Moreira largely represents public employers, including school districts, villages, towns and cities across Long Island and in New York State. Many of the clients she works for are in the business of providing public services, whether it be educating children, managing a police force, maintaining community parks or providing sanitation services. A significant part of her practice centers on collective bargaining negotiations and advising clients on personnel issues.
